

Why No News?

Posted At : April 2, 2009 8:21 AM | Posted By : Jon Hartmann

Related Categories: General

Although I'm sure my list of loyal followers is small to non-existent, I do want to apologize for my silence over the last few weeks. Work has kept me coding 9 to 10 hours a day, so by the time I get home I'm not too interested in programming (if I even have time before I have to hit the sack). Once I get back in the groove I'll be working on the following topics:

1. Transparent rounded corners for images - Yes, I think I know how to do it now
2. BlogCFC Theming Updates - There are new versions of BlogCFC, and I want to try to see if Ray Camden is interested in incorporating theming into the core BlogCFC