

New Hosting and New Job

Posted At : July 12, 2009 9:55 AM | Posted By : Jon Hartmann

Related Categories: General

Well, its been a little while since my last post, and I'm happy to say that things are going ok. I've lined up a 6 week contract gig that will buy me some time to find a permanent position, and I've also gotten new hosting squared away. In my last post a reader suggested Hostek for my hosting needs, and I'm happy to say that if you're reading this post, then you're doing so on their servers. The price is great, and although it took a little bit of work to get things up and running, the Hostek staff where very helpful and prompt to respond to my questions.

So, I'm still Looking For Job, but I've bought myself at least 6 weeks to do it :)